

Neoplastic diseases of zoo and wildlife animals

Robert Stark

Neoplastic diseases are more important in zoo and wildlife animals. The transfer from known entities to these tumors are common.

Through the pathologic-anatomical reference-collection, it might be necessary to reclassify the different tumor entities from all retrospective neoplastic diseases with modern methods. The classification adapt to the WHO - Classification of Tumors of Domestic Animals.