

Abstract guidelines and submission

Call for contributions

Contributions from all fields of behaviour, ecology, physiology, reproduction biology, conservation, and genetics are welcome. There will be three different forms of presentations:

- (1) oral contributions during the main sessions
- (2) oral contributions during parallel sessions and workshops
- (3) posters

Please remember to indicate your preference for an oral or poster presentation.

Oral presentations

Oral presentations will consist of a 10 minutes talk followed by 3 minutes discussion. Two minutes will be reserved to allow a smooth change between successive speakers. Oral presentations will be allocated to one of the main or parallel sessions.

Language

The conference will be conducted in English, thus all contributions have to be in English (British English).

Guidelines for the preparation of abstracts

Abstracts should briefly outline the aim of the study and methods applied, and present the main findings and principal conclusions. Abstracts must be in British English.

Please ensure that your abstract conforms to the following guidelines:

File type: Word file

Abstract length: Maximum 300 words (excluding title, authors' names and affiliations)

Authors: Names of all authors (last name + first name)

Affiliation and e-mail address of the corresponding author

Acceptance of submitted contributions

All abstracts sent by May 19th, 2019 will be reviewed by the conference scientific committee. Authors will receive notification, confirming whether their contribution has been accepted for a poster or oral presentation by July 31st, 2019.

Guidelines for preparation of posters

Posters will only be accepted in portrait format. Posters will be fixed on poster boards and should not exceed 84 cm (width) x 118.9 cm (height) (A0).

Wildlife Research and Conservation (WRC) 2019 organised by the
Leibniz Institute for Zoo and Wildlife Research (Leibniz-IZW)
European Association of Zoos and Aquaria (EAZA)
WWF Germany

Rules and regulations:

Submission of a manuscript implies that its publication has been approved by all co-authors, if any, as well as - tacitly or explicitly - by the responsible authorities at the institution where the work was carried out. The author signs for and accepts responsibility for releasing this material on behalf of any and all co-authors.

If you include figures that have already been published elsewhere, you must obtain permission from the copyright owner(s) for both the print and online format. Please be aware that some publishers do not grant electronic rights for free and that the Leibniz-IZW will not be able to refund any costs that may have occurred to receive these permissions. In such cases, material from other sources should be used.

The author provides the publisher with the permissions to use any materials owned by another party and to publish a photograph when such use could infringe any proprietary right or interfere with an individual's privacy or publicity rights. The author affirms that the publication of such photograph does not interfere with any copyright, trademark, privacy, publicity or proprietary right of another party. In the event of a claim, action or proceeding based upon an alleged violation of the author's representations or warranties that the publisher will be held harmless